Copies of the statement made by Miss Harlow, following the death of her husband, could not be found
when they were sought by the 1932
Los Angeles county grand jury,
which reopened the sensational case
as a part of its probe into county

Despite the emphatically repeat-

suite of rooms to conduct the in-

It was learned, however, that much of Miss Harlow's story to investigators was never transcribed
from the notes taken by sten-

an effort to locate, if possible, the shorthand notebooks of the sten-

Nature's great masters of land-

Pennsylvania today to paint
their first picture of snow and
ice among the windswept valleys and mountains.

Sub-freezing temperatures were recorded throughout the western half of the state last night, and the Pittsburgh forecaster, W. S. Bratzman, predicted a low of between 25
and 30 degrees in that area tonight.

Snow flurries, meanwhile, which assumed gale proportions in some sections, scurried through the district
as it received its first touch of winter's breath. About seven-tenths of an inch of snow was recorded at Pittsburgh's weather bureau, while in other sections, particularly along
the northern tier, drifts a foot deep
were reported frequent.

Foreman Of 1932 Grand
Jury Reiterates Belief
Bern Was Suicide

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12.—The question of just what Jean Harlow, platinum screen star, told 1932
grand jury investigators concerning the suicide of her former husband,
Paul Bern, motion picture producer,
remained a mystery today.

Copies of the statement made by
Miss Harlow, following the death of
her husband, could not be found
when they were sought by the 1932
Los Angeles county grand jury,
which reopened the sensational case
as a part of its probe into county expenditures.

Despite the emphatically repeated statement that its probe of the Bern case had to do only with the expenditures made in the suicide investigation a thorough search was under way today in an effort to locate transcripts of Miss Harlow's testimony, given at a swank hotel where the grand jurors rented a suite of rooms to conduct the investigation.

Hunt Testimony

It was learned, however, that
much of Miss Harlow's story to investigators was never transcribed
from the notes taken by stenographers. As a result of this revelation a search was under way in an effort to locate, if possible, the
shorthand notebooks of the stenographers in order to have the testimony ready should it be needed.

W. W. Widenharn, who as foreman of the 1932 grand jury conduct the probe into the Bern suicide case today reiterated his often repeated statement that he was "satisfied that Bern's death was due to suicide and I see no reason to change
my stand now."

With the grand jurors slated to resume their probe of expenditures of county and city officials, it was apparent that for a second time the Bern-Harlow case had been closed.

MANY ACCIDENTS IN TRAFFIC REPORTED

(International News Service)
Nature's great masters of landscape artistry swirled into western Pennsylvania today to paint
their first picture of snow and
ice among the wind-swept valleys and mountains.

Sub-freezing temperatures were recorded throughout the western
half of the state last night, and the Pittsburgh forecaster, W. S. Broth-
man, predicted a low of between 25
and 30 degrees in that area tonight.

Snow flurries, meanwhile, scattered by chilling winds, which assumed gale proportions in some sections, scurried through the district
as it received its first touch of winter's breath. About seven-tenths of an inch of snow was recorded at Pittsburgh's weather bureau, while
in other sections, particularly along
the northern tier, drifts a foot deep
were reported frequent.

ESCAPES SERIOUS INJURY HOWEVER

(International News Service)
WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 12.—
The deputy coroner placed a little white card in a file today that wrote
"finish" to the life of Joseph Peacock, 42. Death was due to heart failure, the card read.

Police had a slightly more elaborate story, however.

It seems that Joseph went to Pawtucket, O., Saturday night where he joined a poker game. He lost heavily.

"Last time around, boys," said the dealer.

The cards were shuffled. They slipped across the polished table.
One . . . two . . . three . . . four . . .

"Joe" picked up his hands. His eyes narrowed a bit. Then they stared. Then he beat—his last seven dollars.

Before his bet was called, Joseph slumped in his chair.

A friend shook him.

"C'mon, Joe, wake up," he said.

Joe didn't seem to heed.

Heart Failure

Someone felt his heart. There was no beat.

A doctor was summoned. He announced death was due to heart failure.

"Joe was a good guy, wasn't he," mourned one of the players. "Wonder what kind of a hand he had,
he had?" Let's see it."

They looked. There were diamonds, hearts, spades and clubs—all aces.

Joe though, didn't collect. He had played his last hand on the deal before.

Accident On Highway.

He had negotiated the trip from Maine to New Wilmington successfully.
At New Wilmington Saturday night he called his sister, Mrs.
Frank Houk of Slippery Rock township and told her he would be at her home inside of half an hour.

Between New Castle and New Wilmington he was negotiating a curve and attempted to pass another car.

A third car came up from the rear and in endeavoring to avoid an accident Mr. Reno took to the berm, swung sharply to avoid a telephone pole and the car turned over twice.

The fenders were crumpled, the back wheels smashed, the top smashed and the running boards torn up but in some manner Mr. Reno escaped serious injury. His injuries consist of a fractured rib, a stove fnger, a bruised leg and a series of minor cuts. Word was sent to his sister immediately and the family rushed out to the scene of the accidental. There on the highway in the mist of a wet November night,
bruised and injured, he saw his son
Grinnell for the first time in 17 years.

Son a Cowboy.

Grinnell, now a man of 21, is engaged in cow punching in Montana
on the ranch of his father-in-law.
He is a broad shouldered westerner.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The Supreme Court today announced that it will review the case of Tom Mooney, noted labor prisoner, serving a life term in San Quentin Prison, California.

The court's action was taken on Mooney's motion for leave to file a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in his fight for freedom.

The action of the nation's highest tribunal, while only preliminary,
was a smashing victory for Mooney,
who had failed in efforts in lower federal courts.

ORDER OF COURT

Warden James B. Holahan, of San Quentin Prison was directed to show cause why the writ should not be granted.

The brief order of the court read:
"A rule is ordered to issue, returnable within 40 days from this date, requiring the respondent to show cause why leave to file petition should not be granted."

Mooney, who was sentenced to life for aiding complicity in the fatal San Francisco preparedness parade bombing in 1916, contended in his petition that he was convicted on perjured testimony.

Civil Service Plan Proposed

Governor Pinchot Has Not Given Any Approval Of Plan As Yet

SEEK TO SAVE JOBS NOW HELD

By HARRY BERGMAN International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—A movement was afoot to induce Gov. Gifford Pinchot to summon immediately a special session of the Pennsylvania legislature for the purpose of placing state employees under civil service regulations in order to protect them from wholesale patronage dismissals at the hands of the new Democratic regime which comes into power in January.

International News Service is able to state on high authority that the sponsors of this movement are not entirely hopeful that the governor will accept their plan.

This afternoon at Harrisburg the governor will be presented with the plan by the man who initiated it, State Senator George Woodward, veteran Philadelphia legislator.

Although considerable Republican sentiment in favor of the project appears, there was no more than the faintest hope that Governor Pinchot will accede to Woodward's request and call the special session.

Learning of Woodward's proposal, Democratic spokesmen at once raised the cry that it is no more, in essence, than a scheme to keep the "drones" among the 20,000 state employees in their jobs and thus preserve the Republican political machine which was badly battered in last Tuesday's election.

Would Have Right To Dismiss PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—Under the civil service regulations, State Senator George Woodward is advocating for enactment by a special session of the Pennsylvania legislature, the new Democratic administration, coming into power in January, will not be shorn of its right to dismiss state employees, the veteran Republican legislator said to-day.

"The civil service regulations I propose would not take away the power of dismissal, but would impose upon the executive the duty of stating a good and proper reason for removal," he said, adding:

"Another important thing to consider is the effect that dropping thousands of employees at once would have upon the state employees' retirement fund. The fund would certainly be jeopardized if 31,000 members all at once sought to withdraw their contributions at four per cent interest or if the thousands entitled to such annuities would demand their pensions."

Democratic leaders criticized Woodward's proposal, pointing out that George H. Earle, the Democratic governor-elect, has pledged himself to see to it that "no honest and efficient state servant who has stayed out of politics will be dismissed."

GRIP OF WINTER HOLDING STATE

temperatures in the upper teens and lower twenties during the night, with lower readings in store for the coming 24 hours. In Philadelphia, however, the sharp fangs of the storm had not buried themselves. A low temperature of 38 was reported there early this morning, but a high of 46 was predicted for later in the day. There was no precipitation there, the weather bureau reported. Snow flurries, though, were scheduled to invade the eastern district of the state as the high pressure area slid into that area.

In the Harrisburg region the mercury stood at 34 in mid-morning, although it had climbed slightly from its low during the night. A low of 28 degrees was forecast there for tonight. Snow flurries were blowing through the capital city last night and the high pressure area which centered west of Pennsylvania was expected to advance eastward tonight, crossing the state with its center passing near Pittsburgh and Harrisburg.

Traffic Slows Down

Traffic was slowed down in the western section of the state to a snail's pace during the worst of the snows; many minor accidents were reported, and taxicabs were at a premium in Pittsburgh. Railroads, however, were maintaining schedules without serious delays.

Air line travel was going through almost on schedule, although flights east to Washington were being delayed slightly.

public square is occupied. Evidently nothing definite has been accomplished in that line.

Street conditions last night and this morning gave an advance warning that the time is not far distant when ashing of the hills in the city will be required. It is to be hoped that ashing of the hills will be taken care of speedily, this winter, when they become icy or slippery.

While the football game at Sharon on Saturday didn't result in a victory for New Castle, the New Castle senior high school band, performing between the halves, made a fine impression in Sharon. The band played a number of selections and went through some classy formations for the benefit of the spectators.

SUPREME COURT TO REVIEW CASE OF TOM MOONEY

maintained, is a violation of individual liberties guaranteed under the 14th, or due process clause, of the federal constitution.

Allege Perjury

For 18 years, his attorneys contend, he has been wrongfully imprisoned after a trial without due process of law. In support of the petition, Mooney's counsel submitted affidavits alleged to show that witnesses perjured themselves in order to convict him.

Mooney's counsel contend, the record shows that District Attorney Flickert, who prosecuted him, knew that the testimony was perjured.

The Supreme Court of California in the Mooney case was before it, held that it had no authority under the constitution to consider such charges in an application for release from prison.

New Question Raised

The high court thus will take under consideration a question said never to have been raised in this precise form in its long history.

The conviction of Mooney followed a wave of indignation arising from the fatal preparedness-made bombing. Charges were made that it was the outgrowth of a labor war in California, and Mooney, a labor leader, was held instrumental in the plot.

Ever since he was convicted, Mooney has been making a fight for his freedom.

John F. Finerty, of Washington, who with Frank P. Walsh and George T. Davis, filed the petition for Mooney, said:

"We naturally are gratified that the way to a vindication of Tom Mooney has apparently been opened by the United States Supreme Court. After 18 years we have at last found a court with jurisdiction to curb the power of a state to convict a man by perjured testimony to admit he has been so convicted and refuse to release him.

"Of course, while the action of the court today is only preliminary, we are confident that the outcome will be to release Tom Mooney from his long and unjust imprisonment."

Open Meeting Of Council To Be Discussed Next Month

Mayor Charles B. Mayne has set December 7, as the time for an open hearing on whether or not the citizens are in favor of the sale, possession and discharge of regulated fireworks here, he announced today.

Several days ago, W. L. Crooks, legislative agent of the Fireworks Manufacturers Association of the United States appeared before council and suggested that such a regulatory bill be enacted into law.

Not all the council or persons who were present during the discussion opposed the return of fireworks in the city. However, some of the council indicated they would prefer regulated fireworks rather than have persons travel outside the city limits and purchase high powered pyrotechnics.

Mr. Crooks said he would be willing to discuss the proposal in open council session and accordingly Mayor Mayne has designated a day when the proposed regulatory bill can be discussed pro and con before council takes definite action.

"Another important thing to consider is the effect that dropping thousands of employees at once would have upon the state employees' retirement fund. The fund would certainly be jeopardized if 31,000 members all at once sought to withdraw their contributions at four per cent interest or if the thousands entitled to such annuities would demand their pensions."

Democratic leaders criticized Woodward's proposal, pointing out that George H. Earle, the Democratic governor-elect, has pledged himself to see to it that "no honest and efficient state servant who has stayed out of politics will be dismissed."

In Philadelphia, however, the sharp fangs of the storm had not buried themselves. A low temperature of 38 was reported there early this morning, but a high of 46 was predicted for later in the day. There was no precipitation there, the weather bureau reported. Snow flurries, though, were scheduled to invade the eastern district of the state as the high pressure area slid into that area.

In the Harrisburg region the mercury stood at 34 in mid-morning, although it had climbed slightly from its low during the night. A low of 28 degrees was forecast there for tonight. Snow flurries were blowing through the capital city last night and the high pressure area which centered west of Pennsylvania was expected to advance eastward tonight, crossing the state with its center passing near Pittsburgh and Harrisburg.

Traffic Slows Down

Traffic was slowed down in the western section of the state to a snail's pace during the worst of the snows: many minor accidents were reported, and taxicabs were at a premium in Pittsburgh. Railroads, however, were maintaining schedules without serious delays.

Air line travel was going through almost on schedule, although flights east to Washington were being delayed slightly.

Allege Perjury

For 18 years, his attorneys contend, he has been wrongfully imprisoned after a trial without due process of law. In support of the petition, Mooney's counsel submitted affidavits alleged to show that witnesses perjured themselves in order to convict him.

Further, Mooney's counsel contend, the record shows that District Attorney Fleckert, who prosecuted him, knew that the testimony was perjured.

The Supreme Court of California

when the Mooney case was before it, held that it had no authority under the constitution to consider such charges in an application for release from prison.

New Question Raised

The high court thus will take under consideration a question said never to have been raised in this precise form in its long history.

The conviction of Mooney followed a wave of indignation arising from the fatal preparedness parade bombing. Charges were made that it was the outgrowth of a labor war in California, and Mooney, a labor leader, was held instrumental in the plot.

Ever since he was convicted, Mooney has been making a fight for his freedom.

John F. Finerty, of Washington, who with Frank P. Walsh and George T. Davis, filed the petition for Mooney, said:

"We naturally are gratified that the way to a vindication of Tom Mooney has apparently been opened by the United States Supreme Court. After 18 years we have at last found a court with jurisdiction to curb the power of a state to convict a man by perjured testimony to admit he has been so convicted and refuse to release him.

"Of course, while the action of the court today is only preliminary, we are confident that the outcome will be to release Tom Mooney from his long and unjust imprisonment."

Service on Square

Arriving at the Public Square the group gathered on the west area of the square. Major Guy J. Wadlinger acted as chairman of the day and introduced Rev. C. W. Johnstone, pastor of the Central Christian church, who offered the invocation. Rev. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church, was the speaker of the day.

Rev. Bennett's address was brief. In it he decried the present day spirit of unrest for an international spirit of brotherhood and unity. "This day is a call to surrender our prejudices," said he, "to make for a national and international unity that will end this strife and unrest."

Following Rev. Bennett the band played the Star Spangled Banner and a string squad from Troop F fired a volley of three rounds. Alfred Sadler of the Senior high school blew taps and the meeting was over. Discuss Fireworks Here, December 7

Open Meeting Of Council To Be Discussed Next Month

Mayor Charles B. Mayne has set December 7, as the time for an open hearing on whether or not the citizens are in favor of the sale, possession and discharge of regulated fireworks here, he announced today. Several days ago, W. L. Crooks, legislative agent of the Fireworks Manufacturers Association of the United States appeared before council and suggested that such a regulatory bill be enacted into law.

Not all the council or persons who were present during the discussion opposed the return of fireworks in the city. However, some of the council indicated they would prefer regulated fireworks rather than have persons travel outside the city limits and purchase high powered pyrotechnics.

Mr. Crooks said he would be willing to discuss the proposal in open council session and accordingly Mayor Mayne has designated a day when the proposed regulatory bill can be discussed pro and con before council takes definite action.

SEEK SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE

Civil Service Plan Proposed

Governor Pinchot Has Not Given Any Approval Of Plan As Yet

SEEK TO SAVE JOBS NOW HELD

By HARRY BERGMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—A movement was afoot to induce Gov. Gifford Pinchot to summon immediately a special session of the Pennsylvania legislature for the purpose of placing state employees under civil service regulations in order to protect them from wholesale patronage dismissals at the hands of the new Democratic regime which comes into power in January.

International News Service is able to state on high authority that the sponsors of this movement are not entirely hopeful that the governor will accept their plea.

This afternoon at Harrisburg the governor will be presented with the plan by the man who initiated it, State Senator George Woodward, veteran Philadelphia legislator.

Although considerable Republican sentiment in favor of the project appears, there was no more than the faintest hope that Governor Pinchot will accede to Woodward's request and call the special session.

Learning of Woodward's proposal, Democratic spokesmen at once raised the cry that it is no more, in essence, than a scheme to keep the "drones" among the 20,000 state employees in their jobs and thus preserve the Republican political machine which was badly battered in last Tuesday's election.

Would Have Right To Dismiss

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—Under the civil service regulations State Senator George Woodward is advocating for enactment by a special session of the Pennsylvania legislature, the new Democratic administration, coming into power in January, will not be shorn of its right to dismiss state employees, the veteran Republican legislator said to-day.

"The civil service regulations I propose would not take away the power of dismissal, but would impose upon the executive the duty of stating a good and proper reason for removal," he said, adding:

"Another important thing to consider is the effect that dropping thousands of employees at once would have upon the state employees' retirement fund. The fund would certainly be jeopardized if 31,000 members all at once sought to withdraw their contributions at four percent interest or if the thousands entitled to such annuities would demand their pensions."

Democratic leaders criticized Woodward's proposal, pointing out that George H. Earle, the Democratic governor-elect, has pledged himself to see to it that "no honest and efficient state servant who has stayed out of politics will be dismissed."

Sixty Fifth Wedding Anniversary Observed

Golden weddings are rare events, sixteen anniversaries are even rarer, but when there is a sixty-fifth wedding anniversary, it is a most notable occasion.

One of the latter occurred in this city yesterday. Sunday, November 11, when Mr. and Mrs. Arney W. Biddle, of State street hill, were at home to many relatives and friends who called to extend congratulations on this happy day in their lives.

Mrs. Biddle, whose maiden name was Rosetta Kline, was the daughter of John and Anna Wissner Kline of Youngstown. She was united in marriage on November 11, 1899, to Arney W. Biddle, of Edinburg. They made their home one mile west of Edinburg for 40 years when they moved to New Castle.

They are the parents of eleven children, eight of whom are living. There are twenty-two living grandchildren, and six great grandchildren. All the children and their families were present, other out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Edson Kirkpatrick, of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Ceal Bailey and family, of New Philadelphia, O., Mrs. N. B. Moore and sons, of Akron, O.

Thanksgiving was suggested in more ways than one, a beautiful centerpiece of fruits and nuts gracing the table center.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Biddle are in good health for their age. Mr. Biddle was born June 22, 1847, and Mrs. Biddle, December 4, 1851.

BEAUTIFUL WEDDING IN ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Beautiful simplicity marked the wedding this morning at 9 o'clock of Eleanor Irene Travers, daughter of Mrs. Teresa C. Travers of 1225 West State street, to John S. Shields, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Shields of 507 West Madison avenue, which took place in St. Mary's church. Rev. Father Leo Watterson was the officiant.

A sumptuous dinner was served at the noon hour; Mrs. Biddle overseeing the serving with Mrs. Hannah Simonon, Mrs. Carrie Bailey and Mrs. C. Everett Anderson as her aides.

Another feature of the day was the birthday anniversary of one granddaughter, Mrs. Ethel White Anderson.

The hours were spent informally, with visiting and music, selections being rendered by Henry Moore, of Akron, O., and Richard Bailey, of New Philadelphia. O.

ART CLUB MEMBERS TO PLAN A HOUSE

Members of the Art club have outlined an interesting program for this season which will be launched on Thursday afternoon at 2:30, at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Earl C. Ruby, on Sheridan avenue.

They will plan a house at the coming meetings, and later furnish and landscape the grounds. For the first meeting, Mrs. Harding Thayer will present the house plan; Mrs. Irving Balph will discuss the plumbing, heating and lighting, while the garden will be landscaped by Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger. This sounds like a comprehensive study for one afternoon, but just the high points will be brought out. In the succeeding meetings, the various bedrooms and other parts of the house will be mapped out.

So interesting does the program appear that there is sure to be a large attendance for women due on planning things at any time.

Sixty Fifth Wedding Anniversary Observed

Golden weddings are rare events, sixtieth anniversaries are even rarer, but when there is a sixty-fifth wedding anniversary, it is a most notable occasion.

One of the latter occurred in this city yesterday, Sunday, November 11, when Mr. and Mrs. Arney W. Biddle, of State street hill, were at home to many relatives and friends who called to extend congratulations on this happy day in their lives.

Mrs. Biddle, whose maiden name was Rosetta Kline, was the daughter of John and Anna Wisner Kline, of Youngstown. She was united in marriage on November 11, 1869, to Arney W. Biddle, of Edinburgh. They made their home one mile west of Edinburgh for 40 years when they moved to New Castle.

They are the parents of eleven children, eight of whom are living. There are twenty-two living grandchildren, and six great grandchildren. All the children and their families were present to spend a most enjoyable day with the happy couple, except three who were unable to attend, on account of illness, and inclement weather.

A sumptuous dinner was served at the noon hour, Mrs. Biddle overseeing the serving with Mrs. Hannah Simonon, Mrs. Carrie Bailey and Mrs. C. Everett Anderson as her aides.

Another feature of the day was the birthday anniversary of one granddaughter, Mrs. Ethel White Anderson.

The hours were spent informally, with visiting and music, selections being rendered by Henry Moore, of Akron, O., and Richard Bailey, of New Philadelphia, O. Mrs. L. Lindemann, Mr. and Mrs.

Edward White and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. C. Everett Anderson, Mrs. L. Rhinehart, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Pierce and daughter, Esther, Mrs. Hannah Simonon and son, of New Castle, were present, other out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Edson Kirkpatrick of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Ceal Bailey and family of New Philadelphia, O., Mrs. N. B. Moore and sons, of Akron, O. Thanksgiving was suggested in more ways than one, a beautiful centerpiece of fruits and nuts gracing the table center.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Biddle are in good health for their age. Mr. Biddle was born June 22, 1847, to Arney W. Biddle, of Edinburgh. They made their home one mile west of Edinburgh for 40 years when they moved to New Castle.

The bride and her daughter, Mrs. Biddle, were the serving with Mrs. Hannah Simonon, Mrs. Carrie Bailey and Mrs. C. Everett Anderson as her aides.

THE OLD CONGRESS DIES

As a result of the lame duck amendment to the constitution of the United States the new congress will come into being under circumstances different from, and undoubtedly more satisfactory than, any congress previously.

Under this amendment (adopted through approval of the required number of states on February 6, 1933) the present, or old, congress has no further function unless the president should call it into session before January 3, a quite improbable eventuation. Instead of carrying over until March 4, as heretofore, and participating in a short session in the interim, the old congress will be superseded almost at once by the new congress, which will meet January 3.

The purpose of the amendment is to provide a more immediate and representative legislative response to the will of the people as expressed in the elections. The new congress now takes up its legislative responsibilities within two months of the election instead of 13 months later. Also there will be no time limit on the new congress in its first session, as there has been heretofore by the date of March 4. This is an obvious gain. Short sessions usually have been unsatisfactory because of the enforced haste in legislative procedure.

An important practical advantage will lie in the fact that the country will not have to wait for many months with uncertainty about what the new congress will do. Early in the next year the temper and policies of the new congress should have developed sufficiently for business to know what to count upon.

NATIONAL HOOKUP FOR LOAFING

A witness before the Federal Communications Commission complains that radio broadcasts impede business recovery because 40,000,000 persons indulge in 100,000,000 hours of inactivity every day listening to the programs brought by the twist of a dial. While so engaged, he says, they are naturally not wearing out their shoes, or clothes, or automobile tires, or creating business for other industries.

But there is another side to this argument. Even the most hardened radio fan may not be an absolute zero in riding business. Undoubtedly he keeps his home heated and lighted; he probably enjoys a cigar or cigarette with his program and may even like a sandwich—all contributing to the march of commerce. And it is conceivable that he may get so annoyed at some particular barbarous bit of crooning as to smash his radio to bits—thus enlarging the field for the radio manufacturers.

THE MELANCHOLY MONTH

It was once in an old calendar the ninth month, hence the name November, from novem or nine. Now it's the eleventh month and the threshold of winter, though in the seasonal schedule it is the second month of autumn.

November is a gray month, a melancholy month but we like it all the same. Sad as the parting of summer may be, November is welcome nevertheless because it marks the definite divorce from summer things, the end of the half-way measures of October. November is here and we know that winter is here, and we may sit in front of the fire on the gray afternoons and enjoy it.

November has Thanksgiving, and who could ask more than that? It has the Saturday thrill of the big football games at their best, and where can one do better than that? It has the bustle and rush of activity that are impossible in the warmer months, and the first faint tingle of that pervading Christmas spirit.

At all events, November is here and it brings with it the reflection that the old year is on its last legs, over five-sixths of it gone, and the remaining one-sixth sure to rush by like a streamlined train.

Yesterday we thought that we were still in that period of glorious autumn; now we are reminded that there are only 40-odd shopping days till Christmas.

SYNTHETIC EDUCATION

The prophecy that some day everything will be served to mankind out of a mail bag never seemed near realization until the correspondence course began to make its bid for popular favor. There were those who imagined that there was nothing new under the sun until the correspondence school began to thrive.

Now a synthetic liberal arts education is little short of possible. Detectives were once the chief product of the correspondence school, but now these schools have come up in the world. The searcher after knowledge can learn to be an engineer, linguist, scientist, lawyer, orator, author, musician, artist or—well, all that's necessary is to name your favorite "profession" and press it, it's yours.

Education and "higher" training are not the only things that may be obtained via the postage stamp. More recently folks were offered long life and perfect health in twelve easy exercises taken to the rhythm of a phonograph record. Diet courses are likewise available and find a ready market due to the present trend toward the svelte figure.

FOR ONE WHO SPOKE OF DEATH

I talked with one who talked of death. I listened and heard him say that for him the nap was worn off of life, whatever love, whatever zest, there had been in him for living was gone forever. He was desperately bored, the best of his days were gone forever, and would not come again. No one needed him, he was tired even of himself, and some day soon, in all likelihood, he would toss his life away as casually as you or I discarded a burned-out match. The flame was flickering to its end, what work he had to do was finished and behind him, and why should he prolong the futile bidding?

I did not argue. Words are useless at such time. You feel remote and foreign and ineffectual. And you know that whatever arguments you brought forth would fall feebly on those ears despair has deafened. So I did not argue.

But I remembered a day not long ago when I was driving over and through the hot, barren oases of my home state. The sun beat pitilessly down on the parched hills and the sheep huddled in the shade of the still trees. The grass was parched away and where a wagon rolled through a field, the dust rose and hung in a yellow cloud. And to the woman who sat beside me it was an ugly sight. She turned my way and said: "How terribly uninteresting!"

I did not answer. It seemed a waste to tell her: "I love it. It is hot, it is ugly, but it is my own land. I belong to it and I would not have it otherwise." I did not tell her that only a week before I had passed that same way with another passenger, through that same heat over those same brown, thirsty hills, and had turned to me, just as she had, and said:

"God! that's beautiful!" (And those words as though they were a prayer.)

So I could not argue with my friend who talked of death and despair. . . . I could only hope, with all my heart, with every force within me, that the bitterness he knew might go away, that the hardness might soften and happiness come into his heart again. And before it was too late, he might look again upon the harsh, dry hills of his own life, and find them miraculously, unexplainably—beautiful once more. . . . Because, more often than not, it is not our lives, but the way we look upon them, that makes the difference between our bitterness and our joy.

SALUTATIONS SHOULD FIT THE OCCASION

Why not try to be original in the manner in which you accept an introduction and in the form of speech you use when taking your departure from the person to whom you were presented?

Don't say "I'm pleased to meetcha."

Use a little personal touch, or a wording pleasing and different.

Don't mumble, either going or coming.

Enunciate clearly, without a hesitant, faltering manner.

Surprisingly few persons can qualify in greeting introductions or in gracefully worded departures.

Be as decorous as the station of your recently met acquaintance allows.

Naturally there are those whom you may be rather informed without giving offense.

If you have any doubt in your mind, it is better to be on the safe side and be formal rather than too familiar in your salutations.

Certain rules of etiquette are stiff and formal according to the occasion and leave no opportunity for personal expression and individuality.

But usually "stiff and formal" is so cold and unfeeling that a little elasticity makes for happier, personal contacts.

FACING FACTS

If you went to him and said: "There's a weak spot in the wall."

He would merely shake his head, saying: "Nothing's going to fall."

If with him you disagreed, he considered you a fool.

For he never stopped to heed ugly facts he ought to know.

He would sit with you all day if you told him: "All is well!"

But from you he'd turn away if the truth you tried to tell.

Of his courage was displayed in the daring of his acts.

He faced trouble unafraid.

But he wouldn't face the facts.

So his house is in ruins.

Though he said it couldn't fall, just because he shut his eyes to the weak spot in the wall.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:47. Sun rises 6:42.

Dancing may beugging, but there isn't any dancing in the New Castle home where there is nothing but chin music.

Careful observation has convinced us that face powder has put more men down than gun powder.

Antin May Fielderbrush of Germarly's Corners says that many a girl's single because she couldn't stay awake while a man talks about himself.

Dear Hints and Dints: Twas in the days when knights were bold and Sir Galahad was asking Sir Glingerwump for the hand of his fair daughter in marriage. Twas done something on this order: "I beseech you for consent and blessing for the hand of your beautiful daughter. Our honorable families have been friends since early days, 'would be honor' I practice to consent."

Many, many years later, the descendants of the noble knights were also planning to marry. The direct descendant of Sir Galahad was Johnny Brown, but he knew nothing of his ancestor Sir Galahad, the girl in the question knew less of her ancestor Sir Glug. Besides in this day and age the young folks took to their own proposing.

So Johnny Brown, who had been poking around with Mae Smith, popped the question one morning about 3 o'clock on their way to their respective homes they were returning home from a dance. Thus:

Miss Flutie McLuke of Snake Run says she is going to buy some house hold enamel and rub it on her nose to keep the powder from blowing off.

Our daily darning:

"She is pretty, popular and eighteen and has never been kissed," boasted her mother.

Liquor overcomes good sense, caution and good taste, but you can say that about love.

The two things that give poise are knowing how to act, and not giving a darn.

CIRCUS RIDER TO RINGMASTER

When I am riding round the ring no longer.

Say no steed-born woman's nerve was stronger.

That mare used to be.

Let your whole soul say it: do.

Oh, it will be true!

Should I soon no more be mistress found in.

Peats I've made my own.

Trace the tail-laid track you'd whip me round in.

On the cantering road:

There may cross your eyes again.

My life look as then.

Show how I, when clay becomes my cover,

Toot the high-hoop leap into your arms, who coaxed and never my lover.

Ah, to make us weep.

Since these joyous jaded in so long ago!

Even so long ago!

Though now was when you freshly knew me.

But a fading form.

Shape by kiss you'd briskly blow up to me.

While our love was warm,

And my cheek unstained by tears.

As in these last years.

That law which permits voting without a tax receipt is going to cause a lot of trouble some of these days.

Voting is a serious thing and should not be indulged in by those who do not pay taxes.

All the average American asks is a law that will regulate everybody else and not interfere with him.

STARTING LATE IN LIFE

"Get in the country," said the doctor; "long walks in the open air. No alcohol in any form and one cigar a day."

"But doctor."

"One cigar a day!" reiterated the doctor firmly.

Six weeks later the patient returned to town.

"How do you feel?" asked the doctor.

"Splendid! Fit as a fiddle."

"And you liked it all?"

"Yes, everything except the one cigar a day."

The doctor smiled. "The tobacco didn't

THE OLD CONGRESS DIES

AS a result of the lame duck amendment to the constitution of the United States the new congress will come into being under circumstances different from, and undoubtedly more satisfactory than, any congress previously.

Under this amendment (adopted through approval of the required number of states on February 6, 1933) the present, or old, congress has no further function unless the president should call it into session before January 3, a quite improbable eventuation. Instead of carrying over until March 4, as heretofore, and participating in a short session in the interim, the old congress will be superseded almost at once by the new congress, which will meet January 3.

The purpose of the amendment is to provide a more immediate and representative legislative response to the will of the people as expressed in the elections. The new congress now takes up its legislative responsibilities within two months of the election instead of 13 months later. Also there will be no time limit on the new congress in its first session, as there has been heretofore by the date of March 4. This is an obvious gain. Short sessions usually have been unsatisfactory because of the enforced haste in legislative procedure.

An important practical advantage will lie in the fact that the country will not have to wait for many months with uncertainty about what the new congress will do. Early in the next year the temper and policies of the new congress should have developed sufficiently for business to know what to count upon.

NATIONAL HOOKUP FOR LOAFING

A witness before the Federal Communications Commission complains that radio broadcasts impede business recovery because 40,000,000 persons indulge in 100,000,000 hours of inactivity every day listening to the programs brought by the twist of a dial. While so engaged, he says, they are naturally not wearing out their shoes, or clothes, or automobile tires, or creating business for other industries.

But there is another side to this argument. Even the most hardened radio fan may not be an absolute zero in aiding business. Undoubtedly he keeps his house heated and lighted; he probably enjoys a cigar or cigarette with his program and may even like a sandwich—all contributing to the march of commerce. And it is conceivable that he may get so annoyed at some particular barbarous bit of crooning as to smash his radio to bits—thus enlarging the field for the radio manufacturers.

THE MELANCHOLY MONTH

It was once in an old calendar the ninth month, hence the name November, from novem or nine. Now it's the eleventh month and the threshold of winter, though in the seasonal schedule it is the second month of autumn.

November is a gray month, a melancholy month but we like it all the same. Sad as the parting of summer may be, November is welcome nevertheless because it marks the definite divorce from summer things, the end of the half-way measures of October. November is here and we know that winter is here, and we may sit in front of the fire on the gray afternoons and enjoy it.

November has Thanksgiving, and who could ask more than that? It has the Saturday thrill of the big football games at their best, and where can one do better than that? It has the bustle and rush of activity that are impossible in the warmer months, and the first faint tingle of that pervading Christmas spirit.

At all events, November is here and it brings with it the reflection that the old year is on its last legs, over five-sixths of it gone, and the remaining one-sixth sure to rush by like a streamlined train.

Yesterday we thought that we were still in that period of glorious autumn; now we are reminded that there are only 40-odd shopping days till Christmas.

SYNTHETIC EDUCATION

The prophecy that some day everything will be served to mankind out of a mail bag never seemed near realization until the correspondence course began to make its bid for popular favor. There were those who imagined that there was nothing new under the sun until the correspondence school began to thrive.

Now a synthetic liberal arts education is little short of possible. Detectives were once the chief product of the correspondence school, but now these schools have come up in the world. The searcher after knowledge can learn to be an engineer, linguist, accountant, lawyer, orator, author, musician, artist or—well, all that's necessary is to name your favorite "profession" and presto, it is yours.

Education and "higher" training are not the only things that may be obtained via the postage stamp. More recently folks were offered long life and perfect health in twelve easy exercises taken to the rhythm of a phonograph record. Diet courses are likewise available and find a ready market due to the present trend toward the svelte figure.

Careful observation has convinced us that face powder has put more men down than gun powder.

Aunt Mary Fielderhursh of Gormley's Corners says that many a girl is single because she couldn't stay awake while a man talks about himself.

Dear Hints and Dints: Twas in the days when knights were bold and Sir Galahack was asking Sir Glengowpum for the hand of his fair daughter in marriage. Twas done something on this order: "I prithee, Sir Glengowpum, to ask for your consent and blessing for the hand of your beautiful daughter. Our honorable families have been friends since early days, 'twould be an honor, I prithee to consent."

Many, many years later, the descendants of the noble knights were also planning to marry. The direct descendant of Sir Galahack was Johnny Brown, but he knew nothing of his ancestor Sir Galahack and the girl in the question knew less of her ancestor Sir Glengowpum. Besides in this day and age the young folks took to handle their own proposing. So Johnny Brown, who had been going around with Mae Smith, popped the question one morning about 3 o'clock on their way to their respective homes, they were returning home from a dance. Thus—(Johnny) — "Pretty, fair dance, what?" Say, Mae, you know I like you fairly well, you're a swell dancer, an' ya sure kno' your stuff and how. What say we become ball and chain?" Mae, "Well, I gotta marry eventually, so why not you? You're a pretty good scout, even if you do drink more than you can hold, but all in all, I'll make a try of it. Head for the justice, let's get it over with."

How will it be done by the descendants of the present generation, many, many years hence?

That law which prohibits a woman from testifying against her husband in court has been a great boon to husbands. Any wife could send her husband to jail if she was allowed to testify against him. A great many states have this law and no doubt husbands have something to do with it being on the books.

We have been asked if we know anything about a poem entitled "The Joy Ride to the Grave." This was evidently written after use for funerals. We never heard of it.

In this sanitary age, towns protect their citizens from almost everything except stock peddlers.

I thank God for the haze, that rests on country stretches wide, I thank Him for the purple shades that veil the mountain side.

I thank Him for the colored leaves on trees becoming bare, And for the flowers of autumn hues the crispness of the air.

But while I muse on all these things—the gifts of Him so true, I say deep down within my heart, "I thank my God for you."

I thank Him for the curly vines that twine around the door,

I thank Him for the flocks of birds that yonder dip and soar,

I thank Him for the rosy dawn whose power sets life awake,

And for the tints in evening skies that flame, then fade and break.

I thank God for the autumn rains, the frequent mists, the dew—

But most of all I whisper this, "I thank my God for you."

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:47. Sun rises tomorrow 6:42.

Dancing may be hugging, but there isn't any dancing in the New Castle home where there is nothing but chin music.

Careful observation has convinced us that face powder has put more men down than gun powder.

Aunt Mary Fielderhursh of Gormley's Corners says that many a girl is single because she couldn't stay awake while a man talks about himself.

Dear Hints and Dints: When I am riding round the ring no longer.

I asked what brought her out. "Ha! Ha!" said she, "I came to see What all the joke's about!"

CIRCUS RIDER TO KINGMASTER

When I am riding round the ring no longer.

Tell a tale of me; Say no steed-borne woman's nerve was stronger

Than mine used to be.

Let your whole soul say it, do—

Oh, it will be true!

Should I soon no more be mistress found in

Feats I've made my own.

Trace the tan-and-track you'd whip me round in

On the cantering roan;

There may cross your eyes again

My little look as then.

Show how I, when clay becomes my cover.

Took the high-hoop leap

Into your arms, who coaxed and green my lover.

Ah, to make we weep

Since those joyous joyed in so

Even so long ago!

Though now was when you freshly knew me,

But a fading form.

Shape the kiss you'd briskly blow up to me

And while our love was warm,

And while our love unstained by tears As in these last years.

That law which permits voting without a tax receipt is going to cause a lot of trouble some of these days. Voting is a serious thing and should not be indulged in by those who do not pay taxes.

All the average American asks is a law that will regulate everybody else and not interfere with him.

STARTING LATE IN LIFE

"Get in the country," said the doctor; "long walks in the open air. No alcohol in any form and one cigar a day."

"But doctor—"

"One cigar a day!" reiterated the doctor firmly.

Six weeks later the patient returned to town.

"How do you feel?" asked the doctor.

"Splendid! Fit as a fiddle."

"And you liked it all?"

"Yes, everything except the one cigar a day."

The doctor smiled. "The tobacco habit, my dear sir."

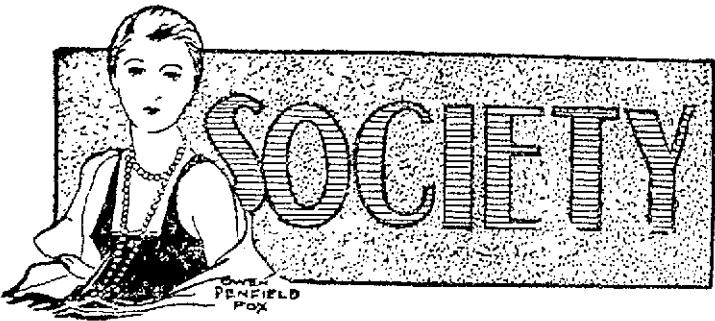

"Isn't any joke," put in the patient ruefully. "It's hard for a person at my age to take up smoking."

Former Local Residents Married For Sixty Years

"Marry in haste and repent at leisure," is an old adage that doesn't always hold true, for today, at Warren, O., Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Hunt of 226 Green Place, well and prominently known former residents of Lawrence county, are celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary, a privilege enjoyed by few.

Open house is being held from 2 to 4 this afternoon and 7 to 9 this evening for neighbors and friends.

On Saturday, the relatives from far and near were entertained at a family dinner in the First M. E. church at Warren, places being laid for 50. lacking just one of an appropriate 60. Many guests were present from New Castle, Ellwood City, Grant City, Pittsburgh and vicinity besides Warren. Among these were the following from New Castle: Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hunt, daughter Eleanor and Esther, Mrs. Caroline Hunt, daughters Carrie and Mel, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie McCracken, daughters Margaret Louise, Glenn and Jessie Joan, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Moore, son Manning and daughter Carolyn, Mrs. Martha McLean, Orville McLean, daughter Helen, Sallie Lee Hahn (the latter four representing four generations), Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bonk, son Donald, Mrs. Norman Penschke, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. McClelland, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hunt, son Manning, daughter Isabelle, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stoner, son Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Weigle. From Grant City were Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Pounds, Mrs. Bella Dean, from Ellwood, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse H. Young and son Ralph. For 24 years Mr. and Mrs. Hunt resided in Lawrence county, where they were born. Later they moved to Hiram, O., where they lived for 12 years preceding their change of residence to Warren, O., 15 years ago.

Mr. Hunt was born July 28, 1853, and Mrs. Hunt July 24, 1864. They're the proud parents of five children, two of whom, Lorenzo Thomas and Myrtle, passed away in infancy, the other children are Clyde, Mrs. Minnie Hunt White, Mrs. May Hunt Enzor, all of Warren. The grandchildren are Mrs. Wilma White Phillips of Detroit, Mrs. Irene White Leach, Howard White, Robert Ensor and Clio Ensor, all of Warren, the latter of whom is studying in New York City. The only great-grandchild is Virginia Mae Phillips. Deceased.

For the dinner Saturday, decorations were carried out in gold and white, with beautiful favors, which carried a pen and ink sketch of the family tree and had places for the guest's names. On the cover was the appropriate poem:

For sixty years in rain or shine
You've walked together down life's way

To find that love and loyalty are gifts

That never fade away.

The truest gold the world can buy

Is in your heart this happy day.

In connection with their "hasty" marriage November 12, 1874, it is interesting to note that Theodore Hunt had spent a hard day threshing in the field that day, but in spite of his fatigue, he could not forego a visit with his sweetheart, who was Jeannette Kennedy. He dressed in his Sunday best and hitched up his horse to the buggy, and on arrival at the Kennedy home was invited into the parlor where in those days all of the romances bloomed. Before the evening was over, Mr. Hunt and his sweetheart decided to get married, and the couple drove over the buggy to the home of the Rev. Brown at Slippery Rock, where the ceremony was performed before midnight. The day after, the secret was revealed to the parents of the couple, and plans were made for their future life which has turned out to be most successful and happy.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt are both in good health, at present, and are still enjoying the fullest of lives. Mr. Hunt was retired three years ago as custodian at the Warren public library.

Son Of Famous Inventor Will Be Heard Here

Will Address Meeting In Interests Of Federal Housing, November 19

REGIONAL HEAD OF THIS DISTRICT

New Castle residents will have an opportunity of hearing Charles Edison, son of the famous inventor, Thomas A. Edison, on next Monday evening, when Mr. Edison, who is regional director of the Federal Housing Administration for the Third Region, comprising Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland, speaks in the interests of the FHA at the Cathedral.

Mr. Edison fits into the position of director of this great governmental enterprise, as he is one of the country's leading industrialists. For years, prior to his father's death, he was the head of the Edison industries in New Jersey and still directs the manifold details of the giant plants, while also guiding the government's home modernization drive in one of the largest regions in the country.

Business Leader.

Mr. Edison, who is quiet, humorous and unassuming, is a native Jerseyman, and a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Although his name would naturally be associated with large inventions, Charles Edison showed an early inclination to business and away from mechanics. He is the business man of the Edison family, and possesses a genius for finance and industrial management. This was early recognized by his father who placed him in an executive position in the Edison industries early in his career and enlarged his authority and responsibility as he developed. The Edison industries have expanded and prospered under his management. So much so in fact that within the past two years nearly a half million dollars have been expended by Mr. Edison in modernizing the Edison plant. In this he practices what he preaches in building development. All the time the business grew despite the period of depression.

Mr. Edison always displayed an interest in civic affairs. Although he became chairman of the directing board of the Edison Industries in 1916, he found time to act as chairman of the Liberty Loan committee in his home town of West Orange during the World War. With the launching of the new deal activities he submitted to being drafted for NRA service in New Jersey, and immediately plunged into his work, becoming New Jersey director of the National Emergency Council. So thoroughly did he perform his duties in this connection that when FHA was set up, he was asked to assume the duties of regional director. He has applied himself assiduously to this task and the great work of home modernization in his region is unfolding before his directing force. When testifying before the Senate finance committee at Washington last winter, Mr. Edison pointed out that there could be no lasting prosperity until the heavy industries of the country were put into operation again. And it was on this theory that the Housing Act was launched.

Guest of C. C. C.

Mr. Edison will be the guest of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce at the big interstate meeting, which will attract residents of western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio, at the Cathedral next Monday evening, November 19, at 8 o'clock.

He will be accompanied by Hon. A. O. Eberhart, former governor of Minnesota, who is now special representative of the FHA. There will also be present at this meeting Edward B. Lee, director of the FHA for western Pennsylvania, accompanied by John H. Lucas, assistant to the president of the Peoples Trust company of Pittsburgh, and N. P. Mason, manager of the credit department, Peoples Trust company, and many other outstanding officials of NRA and FHA.

Word has also been received from several administration officials in Washington, that they, too, will be present on this occasion.

A large attendance is expected from Youngstown and Warren, O., Sharon, Beaver Falls, Ellwood City, and Butler and intermediate towns.

The gentlemen accompanying Mr. Edison will explain the benefits to be derived from the National Housing Act.

The doors of the Cathedral will be open at 7 o'clock, and a program of music and entertainment will precede the meeting.

Scotland has a heated controversy over the question of whether football referees are overpaid.

His passenger, John Swazas, 24, of Waukegan, was fatally burned in the plane. The accident occurred near Milwaukee Airport Saturday night.

Doctors Strive To Save Lives Of Eight Others Poisoned By Candy

(Special To The News)

DENVER, Nov. 12.—One child was dead here today, and physicians battled frantically to save the lives of eight others poisoned when they ate candy from the bottom of a barrel in which arsenic had been placed.

The dead child, Nellie Lucero, 17 months old, was the youngest of a group of nine who went in search of a pet rabbit Saturday. The hunt led them through a junk yard where a pile of barrels was stacked. In one of the barrels they found something that tasted like candy and ate it.

PRESIDENT'S POWER OVER CONGRESS TO BE TESTED

Legislation To Prove Big Test

Numerous Measures Frowned Upon By Roosevelt Likely To Be Considered

BONUS WILL BE IMPORTANT ISSUE

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—President Roosevelt's power will be tested early in the 74th Congress by inflationary, bonus and other "blobs," it appeared today.

Although the election was generally construed as a personal endorsement of the president, spokesmen for the ultra-Progressives have already disclosed plans to push legislation frowned upon by the White House in the past.

The battle for cash payment of the $2,300,000,000 soldiers bonus may be the first. Rep. Patman (D) of Texas, already has assurance that the bill will be labelled "No. 1" in the house. Bonus advocates are expected to demand assurance of a vote from speakership candidates.

Senator Elmer Thomas (D) of Oklahoma, is expected to open the inflation drive even before congress convenes, with the hope of obtaining action before the regular program is shaped.

Seek President Will Rule

Administration leaders are confident that the president will rule congress. The real hope of the bloc leaders, they say, is to create so much sentiment for measures that the White House may agree to a compromise. This picture was followed in the last session.

Among the "blob" proposals, in addition to the bonus and paper inflation, are:

Complete remonetization of silver, urged by the "silver bloc."

Creation of a central bank to issue all money.

Enactment of a mandatory 30-hour week law, with exceptions.

A soak-the-rich plan of taxation.

boosting the present high inheritance and income taxes.

A new CWA plan, with funds enough to provide jobs for all unemployed.

Refinancing of all farm indebtedness with "greenback" currency.

Administration leaders have evidenced an intention to prepare the administration program as speedily as possible to prevent the "blobs" from swinging into action.

Seek Short Session

One of their aims is a short session of congress. By rushing through the administration program, leaders hoped to be in a position to declare adjournment before many group measures have reached the voting stage.

Advocates of a central bank of issue, on which the administration has turned thumbs down, gained an ally in Senator Borah (R) of Idaho. The movement for this institution has been sponsored by Democrats and Republicans.

Leaders of the American Federation of Labor are convinced from answers given by candidates in questionnaires, that there will be more sentiment for a 30-hour week. Senator Black (D) of Alabama, who once pushed a 30-hour week bill through the senate, may lead the movement.

Lincoln School Pupils Present Special Program

Armistice Day Observance At South Side School Is Significant

That the Lincoln-Garfield school has its share of theatrical talent was demonstrated Friday when pupils of the South Side institution presented a fitting Armistice Day program.

The sixth grade chorus, under the supervision of Miss Margaret Sankey, scored a decided hit. The harmonica band, under Elizabeth Richardson, also featured the program. Miss Mildred Updegraff was the dramatic supervisor.

PRESIDENT'S POWER OVER CONGRESS TO BE TESTED

Legislation To Prove Big Test

Numerous Measures Frown Upon By Roosevelt Likely To Be Considered

BONUS WILL BE IMPORTANT ISSUE

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—President Roosevelt's power will be tested early in the 74th Congress by inflationary, bonus and other "blocs," it appeared today.

Although the election was generally construed as a personal endorsement of the president, spokesmen for the ultra-progressives have already disclosed plans to push legislation frowned upon by the White House in the past.

The battle for cash payment of the $2,300,000,000 soldiers bonus may be the first. Rep. Patman (D) of Texas, already has assurance that the bill will be labelled "No. 1" in the house. Bonus advocates are expected to demand assurance of a vote from speakership candidates.

Senator Elmer Thomas (D) of Oklahoma, is expected to open the inflation drive even before Congress convenes, with the hope of obtaining action before the regular program is shaped.

Think President Will Rule

Administration leaders are confident that the president will rule Congress. The real hope of the bloc leaders, they say, is to create so much sentiment for measures that the White House may agree to a compromise. This picture was followed in the last session.

Among the "bloc" proposals, in addition to the bonus and paper inflation, are:

Complete remonetization of silver, urged by the "silver bloc."

Creation of a central bank to issue all money.

Enactment of a mandatory 30-hour week law, with exceptions.

A soak-the-rich plan of taxation.

Administration leaders have evidenced an intention to prepare the administration program as speedily as possible to prevent the "blocs" from swinging into action.

Seek Short Session

One of their aims is a short session of Congress. By rushing through the administration program, leaders hoped to be in a position to declare adjournment before many group measures have reached the voting stage.

Advocates of a central bank of issue, on which the administration has turned thumbs down, gained an ally in Senator Borah (R) of Idaho. The movement for this institution has been sponsored by Democrats and Republicans.

Leaders of the American Federation of Labor are convinced, from answers given by candidates in questionnaires, that there will be more sentiment for a 30-hour week.

War Just Ahead.
Are We Ready NO.
Here Comes A New Tax.
An $8 Moratorium.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

IT APPEARS, kind friends, that this world—Europe, at least—is really headed toward war. Who says so? Mussolini does, and he has inside information "another European" was inevitable. And adds that Italy will get more from this next war than she got from the last. She is getting ready, training even small boys as soldiers. And Lloyd George, who took Britain through the war that Germany may have won had it not been for him, says "We are on the horizon" and advises, if you doubt it, that you try to insure against war with Lloyd's. No price you could name would get you insurance against war for the next 10 years.

IT MAY GRIEVE, but will not surprise you to learn that "the United States is behind all other nations in matters of national defense." We have talked sweet peace, disarmament, pacifism, soft answers turning away wrath, so long, that we have come to believe in that nonsense. It will be a pleasure for some nation, east or west, to wake us from that sweet dream.

SENATOR BORAH says the distribution of unemployment relief is in reality the biggest system of graft and diversion of public money ever known in America. Not more than half the money appropriated for the unemployed poor has ever reached them, according to Mr. Borah.

If that is true, somebody must have made a lot of money, with hundreds of millions poured out. It is serious accusation from a man as important as Senator Borah.

COUNT THAT DAY LOST whose low descending sun sees no new tax plan added to the old ones. You will count few lost days, of that sort.

The newest taxation idea develops in New York City, which spends something more than $600 million dollars a year, counting 17 to 20 millions a month for relief work.

New York's latest plan is to put a tax on all apartments above $1,000 a year. If you pay more than $1,000 a year for your apartment, that means you are rich, and can stand taxation on all that you pay above $1,000.

THIS IS NOT particularly good news for New York landlords, already taxed so heavily that if they can get taxes and operating expenses from their buildings, they feel happy. However, the present New York city government found a bad mess left over from line of predecessors, and there are excuses. It does seem, however, that a city of seven or eight million people ought not to cost more for one year's management than the entire government of the United States used to cost a little while before the big war.

SENATOR HUEY LONG, of Louisiana, announces a new law for his state, and any bill that he announces goes through. The bill will establish a moratorium for two years on all debts above eight dollars. If you owe less than eight dollars to the butcher or grocer, you must pay. But all above eight dollars your creditors cannot collect for two years to come.

With the ancient Jews, once in so many years all debts were wiped out automatically. When that year came nobody owed anybody anything. Everybody started afresh. Perhaps Senator Long will adopt that idea.

TWO NEWS ITEMS to interest feminine minds more than anything about politics or statesmanship. Queen Mary of England has abandoned her ancient "toque" style of bonnet, rising up straight in the air like the crust of a charlotte russe.

Miss Perkins, secretary of labor, perhaps in honor of the Roosevelt-New Deal election triumph, has given away her well known three-cornered or "tricorn" hat, and wears a black velvet beret tilted over her right eye.

You may make a lady secretary of labor equal of all fierce gentleman cabinet officers, but you cannot keep her from pulling her hat down over one eye. As well ask the tiger to give up meat.

COULD A WOMAN run a great department store? She could, she has done it. In Chicago, Mrs. Netcher, for years has shown the world what a woman can do in business. Now Mrs. Floyd P. Odum has become head of a great New York store, succeeding as owner and manager, Paul Bowlin, who retires at 71 years of age because of ill health.

Women in search of a career, while realizing that not every woman can have a big store, will watch Mrs. Odum with interest and many "mere men" in other stores will also be deeply interested.

The late Nathan Straus used to say, with a smile, "competition is the life of business, but the death of profits." And in business the competition of able concentrated women, may worry "proud man."

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, still fighting unemployment and want, appoints a committee to deal with social difficulties, including idleness, with Dr. Frank B. Graham, of the University of North Carolina, at the head of it. Other men on the well chosen committee are Gerald Swope, head of General Electric; George Berry, of the printing pressmen's union; Prof. Raymond Moley, who knows about things; Walter Teagle, head of Standard Oil of New Jersey and President Green, of the American Federation of Labor. That collection of men, with others added, should be able to do something.

IT IS PROPOSED to build a nationwide system of broad, landscaped roads connecting the government's national parks with the great cities." Such road building, on a gigantic national scale, especially if it were extended east and west, and north and south to the boundaries of the United States connecting with Mexico and Canada would be valuable. It ought to include long, wide stretches for airplane landing along the highways, with provisions for the much bigger planes that are coming. For long journeys flying will soon be much more important than railroading or automobile.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD has ordered fifty-seven streamlined locomotives, with the idea of greatly increasing railroad speed, which is good news. Still better news is that General Atchison, head of the Pennsylvania, a real railroad man, is not seriously ill as was reported, but simply taking a rest in Miami. If you had been running a big railroad system since 1929, you also would want a rest.

DR. FOX, new president of Union College, says:

"Higher education for all is doomed in the new era."

The idea that everybody is fit for college has led to making the college fit for anybody, and has injured standards, says Dr. Fox.

Real "higher education" for all or a few is not to be obtained in college. Such an education comes if at all, in the first 40 or 50 years after leaving college. Schools and colleges are merely mental gymsnasiums which young men and women learn to use their minds, and concentrate, if they learn anything, which many do not.

Illinois Banker Who Fled To Wisconsin With $56,000 Faces Sentence

(International News Service)

WILMETTE, Ill., Nov. 12.—Nicholas A. Schwall, bank cashier who embezzled $56,000 of the depositors' money and fled to the backwoods of Wisconsin where he lived the life of a hermit for two years, may be sentenced for his peculations.

Schwall has stated he would plead guilty. It is possible, however, that his arraignment will be delayed to allow him to help the federal receiver for the bank, the First National Bank of Wilmette, to straighten out the bank's books.

Schwall, who is married and the father of three children, was arrested Saturday in a backwoods cabin near Conover, Wis.

He told his captors how he had purchased land, tools, guns, had built his cabin with his own hands, had subsisted on game and berries and fish.

PLAN TWO COLLEGE DANCES

Two all-college dances for Westminster College students have been scheduled, Dean Mary E. Turner announces. The varsity lettermen will sponsor a football dance on Saturday, November 24, in the gym. The dance to celebrate the end of the grid season, will be from 8 to 11.

On Saturday, December 15 the Pan-Hellenic council will sponsor a dance in the college gym from 8 to 11.

Fine Tribute For A. C. Hyde

Years Of Faithful Service To New Castle Schools And Athletics Rewarded

GROUP OF FRIENDS STAGE BIG DINNER

Honoring A. C. Hyde, member of the New Castle School Board and a member of the Athletic Council of Senior High, a group of 25 of his friends and associates, entered the "grand old man of the seventh ward" a chicken dinner and award Saturday evening at Wyatt's Lodge, New Wilmington.

The occasion was Mr. Hyde's birthday and due to the fact that he was born in Sharon, his friends hit upon the testimonial idea as the day of the New Castle-Sharon game fell on the birthday. Mr. Hyde is proudly displaying a gold football today given to him by his friends for many, many years of faithful service both to New Castle and athletes.

Given Gold Football

George Muse, local attorney was the toastmaster of the occasion, after heaping mounds of chicken and beans put away. The following responded with short talks praising the service of Mr. Hyde as a member of the School Board and also his faithful devotion to athletics, not only in the New Castle schools, but years ago he was interested in the old O. & P. baseball league. Charley Andrews, Tommy Blake and Jim Foster provided the glowing tributes.

C. Ed Smith Jr., was called upon and presented Mr. Hyde with a beautiful gold football. Mr. Hyde responded with a talk in which although choked up with emotion, he managed to get away with beautifully and thanked the men most profusely for the lovely tribute and football, saying in closing, "I will remember this moment as long as I live."

Over 50 Years

Mr. Hyde came to New Castle over 50 years ago from Sharon, and once entered into the life of New Castle, and served a term as Register and Recorder many years ago. Mr. Hyde would not reveal his age, but, "You can guess that I'm not any older than I feel," was the way Hyde put it.

Although born in Sharon, Mr. Hyde was rooting lustily for New Castle to upset Sharon, but the game ended 0-0, and everybody was happy.

NEW CASTLE HIGH AND SHARON HIGH BATTLE TO 0-0

SHARON HIGH HOLDS LOCALS

Sharon Threatens To Score In Fourth Period, New Castle Stopped

Ogg And Mumford Engage In Punting Duel, Good-Sized Crowd Witnesses Game

HARD-FIGHTING Sharon High School football team handed New Castle High School "Red Hurricane" football team a neatly wrapped surprise package Saturday afternoon at the new Sharon High stadium by holding the New Castle team scoreless 0-0. In a brilliant battle, Sharon High threatened in the fourth period, taking the ball to the New Castle 1-yard line on passes, but could not puncture the powerful New Castle line for the touchdown. The game was a duel of punters, with exactly 27 kicks being executed. It was the second straight Saturday that New Castle was held scoreless. New Castle Outplayed

New Castle was only inside of the Sharon 30-yard line once or twice, and then couldn't get any place. Sharon, on the other hand, threatened the New Castle goal line on numerous occasions. The first downs were eight and five in favor of New Castle.

Sharon let New Castle do most of the playing. Ogg was called up to kick the ball to New Castle 12 times. Klaric tried to "break" the charm three times by kicking field goals from placement around the 15 and 20-yard lines, but none of his kicks came close to being good. Sharon was desperate for a goal. Fleming of New Castle tried a field goal by drop-kick, but this was wide of the bars.

Sharon High tried 13 passes and made good four of them for long gains. Klaric to Seaman proved to be a good passing combination.

Fleming-Cox Stopped

Sharon bottled Fleming up somewhat with the New Castle "roadhead" being stopped on numerous thrusts through the line. Once or twice Fleming broke away for nice gains. Cox also did a little ground gaining, but for the most part Cox and Fleming found Sharon linemen waiting for them.

The Sharon team did not try to run the ball through the New Castle line very often. The big Orange team was more content to kick and pray for a break of some kind that would give them a touchdown. Once on a Sharon punt Fleming fumbled and it looked bad, but Fleming recovered just in time. The Sharon passes on a trick formation, had the New Castle worried.

Hardfought Game

It was a hardfought battle from the first to the last whistle. There were numerous injuries of minor natures, both sides finding the tackling hard and furious.

A slight rain just before game time made the field a little slippery. The backfield men had a hard time in holding their feet. New Castle looked impressive in the middle of the field, but once inside the Sharon 35 or 40-yard line the New Castle attack seemed to decrease.

New Castle Holds

Sharon's big moment of the game came at the end of the third period, when Klaric rifled a pass to Seaman for 24 yards to the New Castle 16-yard line just as the whistle blew. Johns replaced Cardella on the New Castle line at guard and played a fine defensive game. A five-yard penalty against Sharon with the ball on the New Castle one-yard line after a pass, Klaric to Seaman, hurt the big Orange team. Klaric was halted on the 1-yard line on four down and Mumford booted out of danger. Sharon took the ball again to the New Castle 16-yard line and Klaric tried a field goal, but missed. A Sharon fumble gave New Castle the ball on the Sharon 30 line and Fleming elected to try for a drop-kick, but the kick was far wide of the bars. There was only time enough left for a Sharon punt and New Castle was running the ball down the field, reaching the 39-yard line as the game ended.

That's the only kind of a Thanksgiving suit you CAN buy at the WINTER COMPANY.

Of course you recall the story about the young man who collared his first job at a plumply small remuneration.

A friend asked, "Do you think you can get a job?" "I can't," he said, "but I can get a salary like that."

"That's the only kind I can live on a salary like that," replied the boy. "There is ONLY ONE kind of a suit you CAN have at WINTER'S and that's a fine suit, and one that will make you happy and we're proud."

We once sold a suit that wasn't right, it isn't sold six customers we liked very much.

Titans Lose At Waynesburg, 20-0

Jim Worden And McCombs Score Touchdowns In Annual Grid Battle

(Special To The News)

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 12.—Jim Worden, a freshman at Waynesburg and McCombs combined efforts Saturday afternoon to upset Westminster College football team at the local field 20 to 0. The Yellow Jackets dominated the play in every period.

Currie and Sweeney, two highly touted ball carriers of the Waynesburg and Titan team never got started. Two sustained marches down the field and a blocked punt gave Waynesburg her three touchdowns.

Two of the Yellow Jacket scores came in the first stanza, with Jim Worden going over the white stripe after taking a lateral from McCombs on the 9 yard line. The Jackets had marched down the field from the Titan 34 yard line. McCombs made the second touchdown a few minutes later when he picked it over from the one-yard line after four plays had taken the ball up from the Titan 45 yards line.

The third Jacket score came in the third period when Joe McCune and Lou Rozzi blocked a Titan punt on the visitors 17 yard line and a few minutes later Worden scooted over from the three-yard line. Waynesburg piled up 10 first downs and held the Gibbons coach to a tie in the final two downs.

McCombs made the second touchdown a few minutes later when he picked it over from the one-yard line after four plays had taken the ball up from the Titan 45 yards line.

The third Jacket score came in the third period when Joe McCune and Lou Rozzi blocked a Titan punt on the visitors 17 yard line and a few minutes later Worden scooted over from the three-yard line. Waynesburg piled up 10 first downs and held the Gibbons coach to a tie in the final two downs.

Currie and Sweeney, two highly touted ball carriers of the Waynesburg and Titan team never got started. Two sustained marches down the field and a blocked punt gave Waynesburg her three touchdowns.

Upsets Of Dope Lacking In Saturday's Games

About the only surprise in Saturday's football results over the country was that there were no surprises. With few exceptions the teams in the big time performed according to what was expected of them and about the only thing to show any unusual interest over was the total scores.

Locally perhaps the game that showed a heavier score than was anticipated was the Temple-Carnegie Tech game. Temple was favored but nobody thought Pop Warner's Owls were good enough to pile up a 34-6 score against the Tartans. Pitt also did better than you might have thought, defeating Nebraska 25-6. Duquesne romped over the Oklahoma Aggies, and in doing so Art Strutt, Duke halfback, brought his total score up to 103 for the season, leading the east.

Thiel Walls Allegheny. Up at Greenville Thiel poured out the accumulation of years of wrath against Allegheny, defeating the Windy City lads 33-0, which is fairly decisive. Minnesota continued its Juggernaut career against Indiana, winning 30-0, and Illinois took Northwestern 14-3. Rice, favored to win over Arkansas, barely did so by a 7-0 score. Alabama put another reason forward for getting the Rose Bowl bid when it defeated Lafayette 40-0.

In the far west Stanford just about sewed up the Pacific coast championship and the Rose Bowl game by defeating Washington 24-0. Who will represent the other sections of the country is still a question, barring Minnesota and Princeton. The Yellow Jackets dominated the play in every period.

Ogg And Mumford Engage
In Punting Duel, Good-
Sized Crowd Witnesses
Game

HARD-FIGHTING Sharon High School football team handed New Castle High School "Red Hurricane" football team a neatly wrapped surprise package Saturday afternoon at the new Sharon High stadium by holding the New Castle team scoreless 0-0 in a brilliant battle. Sharon High threatened in the fourth period, taking the ball to the New Castle 1-yard line on passes, but could not puncture the powerful New Castle line for the touchdown. The game was a duel of punters, with exactly 27 kicks being exchanged. It was the second straight Saturday that New Castle was held scoreless.

New Castle Outplayed

New Castle was only inside of the Sharon 30-yard line once or twice, and then couldn't get any place. Sharon, on the other hand, threatened the New Castle goal line on numerous occasions. The first down were eight and five in favor of New Castle.

Sharon let New Castle do most of the playing. Ogg was called up to kick the ball to New Castle 12 times. Klaric tried to "break" the charm three times by kicking field goals from placement around the 15 and 20-yard lines, but none of his kicks came close to being good. Sharon was desperate for a score. Fleming of New Castle tried a field goal by drop-kick, but this was wide of the bars.

Sharon tried 13 passes and made good four of them for long gains. Klaric to Seaman proved to be a good passing combination.

Fleming-Cox Stopped

Sharon bottled Fleming up somewhat with the New Castle "redhead" being stopped on numerous thrusts through the line. Once or twice Fleming broke away for nice gains. Cox also did a little ground gaining, but for the most part Cox and Fleming found Sharon linemen waiting for them.

The Sharon team did not try to run the ball through the New Castle line very often. The big Orange team was more content to kick and pray for a break of some kind that would give them a touchdown. Once on a Sharon punt, Fleming fumbled and it looked bad, but Fleming recovered just in time. The Sharon passes, on a tried formation, had the New Castles worried.

Hardfought Game

It was a hardfought battle from the first to the last whistle. There were numerous injuries of minor natures, both sides finding the tackling hard and furious.

A slight rain just before game time made the field a little slippery. The backfield men had a hard time in holding their feet. New Castle looked impressive in the middle of the field, but once inside the Sharon 35 or 40-yard line the New Castle attack seemed to decrease.

New Castle Holds

Sharon's big moment of the game came at the end of the third period, when Klaric rifled a pass to Seaman for 24 yards to the New Castle 1-yard line just as the whistle blew. Johns replaced Cardella on the New Castle line at guard and played a fine defensive game. A five-yard penalty against Sharon with the ball on the New Castle one-yard line after a pass, Klaric to Seaman, hurt the big Orange team. Klaric was halted on the 1-yard line on fourth down and Mumford booted out of danger. Sharon took the ball again to the New Castle 16-yard line and Klaric tried a field goal, but missed. A Sharon fumble gave New Castle the ball on the Sharon 30 line and Fleming elected to try for a drop-kick, but the kick was far wide of the bars. There was only time enough left for a Sharon punt and New Castle was running the 39-yard line as the game ended.

Titans Lose At Waynesburg, 20-0

Jim Worden And McCombs Score Touchdowns In Annual Grid Battle

(Special To The News)

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 12.—Jim Worden, a freshman at Waynesburg and McCombs combined efforts Saturday afternoon to upset Westminster College football team at the local field 20 to 0. The Yellow Jackets dominated the play in every period.

Currie and Sweeney, two highly touted ball carriers of the Waynesburg and Titan team never got started. Two sustained marches down the field and a blocked punt gave Waynesburg her three touchdowns.

Two of the Yellow Jacket scores came in the first stanza, with Jim Worden going over the white strip after taking a lateral from McCombs on the 9 yard line. The Jackets had marched down the field from the Titan 34 yard line. McCombs made the second touchdown a few minutes later when he buckled it over from the one-yard line after four plays had taken the ball up from the Titan 15 yard line.

The third Jacket score came in the third period when Joe McCune and Lou Rozzi blocked a Titan punt on the visitors 17 yard line and a few minutes later Warden scooted over from the third-yard line. Waynesburg piled up 10 first downs and held the Gilmore coached team to five first downs.

Speed and deception proved greater than mass power used by the United Presbyterians. The Jackets bottled up Sweeney, Laraway and Staples on almost every play.

Donnelly proved to be a good after touchdown kicker making two out of three good for extra-points. The summary:

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Twelve college football teams remain undefeated in the East but half of the 12 have been deadlocked at least once. Navy, Princeton and Syracuse, among the major schools and Trinity, Tufts and St. Vincent, among the smaller, boast of not having been beaten or tied. The scoring leadership belongs to Duquesne which has lost one game. Duquesne has scored 308 points and Princeton, 242 in six games. Strutt and Clegg, 102 points for eight games while Shepherd of Western Maryland has earned 100 points in six games. Krosobsky of Trinity is third with 72 points for seven games and Smith of Grove City has made 70 points in six games.

Reports in New York say that Wally Berger of the Braves may patrol centerfield for the New York Giants next year. Negotiations for his purchase are under way.

Chicago Bears and Detroit are deadlocked with nine victories each and no defeats in the western loop of the Professional football league and in the eastern division, New York is leading with six wins and three defeats.

Springfield, O., franchise in the Mid-Atlantic league has been shifted to Portsmouth, O., according to reports from a meeting yesterday at Zanesville.

Thiel Wallops Allegheny. Up at Greenville Thiel poured out the accumulation of years of wrath against Allegheny, defeating them 30-0, while Geneva had little trouble hanging it on Bethany, 26-6. Westminster was rated an even Steven against Waynesburg but came home on the short end of a 20-0 good for Wash-Jeff, winning 13-7.

Navy brought the midshipmen stock up to a new high when the admirals took Notre Dame into camp at Cleveland 10-6. Navy hasn't been stopped so far this season and right now looks to have the edge for the Army-Navy game on December 1.

Penn State nearly took Penn at Philadelphia but the score was finally 3-0 Penn, which indicates that the State lads were on their game defensively, at least. Syracuse took Michigan State into camp 10-0 and Georgia set Yale down 14-7. Colgate earned new laurels in defeating Tulane 20-6, and Princeton was hardly given exercise in running down Lehigh 54-0. Rutgers added to its already high total score this season by defeating Lafayette 27-6 and Army foisted around with Harvard, winning 27-6.

Ohio State either caught Chicago on an off day or else Ohio is even better than we thought for they defeated the Windy City lads 33-0, which is fairly decisive. Minnesota continued its juggernaut career against Indiana, winning 30-0, and Illinois took Northwestern 14-3. Rice favored to win over Arkansas, barely did so by a 7-0 score. Alabama put another reason forward for getting the Rose Bowl bid when it faced Clemson 40-0.

In the far west Stanford just about sewed up the Pacific coast championship and the Rose Bowl game by defeating Washington 24-0.

Who will represent the other sections of the country is still a question, barring Minnesota and Princeton, who are tied up by agreements not to go to the coast.

It was a well earned victory for the Lawrence County Class B who lost one tilt this season. The work of Navarro and Glass was again outstanding. On the line Bonnacini and Meelich played a splendid brand of football. J. Menchini, Traveline and J. Brink were the best bets for the losers.

In the most thrilling grid contest enacted on the Bessemer field this season, Bessemer's powerful eleven successfully closed the 1934 campaign with a triumph over a big Lowellville high combination, on Saturday afternoon. The final score, 7-6.

While close to 500 fans looked on, 22 schoolboys played 48 minutes of hard football. During the first two periods, the Lowellville grididers carried the ball within the 10 yard mark on several occasions, through the fine work of J. Menchini and DeLucia. A long pass, DeLucia to P. Menchini, was good for 24 yards as the ball rested on the 13. Zinger ripped his way through center for four yards through left Jake Hostnick, Bessemer end, was hurt on the play. He was kicked in the adam's apple. After working on the young man for 15 minutes, the gridider had to be carried off the field.

It was learned following the game that the young man's condition is good. After play was resumed the Cement city representatives tightened up and held Lowellville on the 23 as the first period ended. Score, 0-0.

At the start of the second quarter, Bessemer kicked to safety. The Lowellville grididers again moved the pig skin within scoring distance. On a triple pass, J. Menchini, one of the fastest runners in this district, zig-zagged around right for 22 yards. Marshall picked the line for three more, followed by Zinger who brought the ball to the 22 through tackle. J. Menchini on another triple pass, gained 9 yards. Traveline moved his way through center for six yards, placing the oval on the three. Again the Bessemer boys demonstrated their defensive ability by holding the visitors. During the remainder of the quarter neither team was able to make a substantial gain. Score 0-0.

Bessemer Scores A determined Bessemer eleven took the field in the third period. From mid-field, the Lawrence Countians started a sustained drive down the field. First it was a pass. Clark to Glass which was good for 7 yards. Glass cut his way around right end for 7 more yards. Franklin Navarro plucked the line and scored a first down. Two more successful runs by Glass and then Navarro, brought the pigskin to the four yard chalk mark. On the following play, Glass hit right tackle for Bessemer's touchdown. Clark's educated foot was responsible for the extra point. Score, Bessemer 7, Lowellville 0.

Following the kick off, Lowellville attempted two plays and kicked in the hope of a break. A light rain commenced to descend on the field. Bessemer found Lowellville's line hard to crack and was compelled to kick. Shoup's kick was practically blocked. The ball went out of bounds on the 40. One play was completed before the end of the third period.

In the final quarter, Lowellville tried a pass which was grounded and then punted. The Cement City eleven could not gain on two plays and Shoup kicked out to the 43.

Fine Tribute For A. C. Hyde

Years Of Faithful Service To New Castle Schools And Athletics Rewarded

GROUP OF FRIENDS STAGE BIG DINNER

Honoring A. C. Hyde, member of the New Castle School Board and a member of the Athletic Council of Senior High, a group of 25 of his friends and associates, entered the "grand old man of the seventh ward" a chicken dinner and award Saturday evening at Wynt's Lodge, New Wilmington.

The occasion was Mr. Hyde's birthday and due to the fact that he was born in Sharon, his friends hit upon the testimonial idea as the day of the New Castle-Sharon game fell on the birthday. Mr. Hyde is proudly displaying a gold football today given to him by his friends for many, many years of faithful service both to New Castle and athletics.

Given Gold Football

George Muse, local attorney was the mastermind of the occasion, after heaping mounds of chicken and been put away. The following responded with short talks praising the service of Mr. Hyde as a member of the School Board and also his faithful devotion to athletics, not only in the New Castle schools, but years ago he was interested in the old O. & P. baseball league. Charley Andrews, Tommy Blake, and Jim Foster provided the glowing tributes.

C. Ed Smith Jr. was called upon and presented Mr. Hyde with a beautiful gold football. Mr. Hyde responded with a talk in which although choked up with emotion, he managed to get away with beautifully and thanked the men most profusely for the lovely tribute and football, saying in closing, "I will remember this moment as long as I live."

Over 50 Years
Mr. Hyde came to New Castle over 50 years ago from Sharon, and at once entered into the life of New Castle and served a term as Register and Recorder many years ago. Mr. Hyde could not reveal his age, but "You can guess that I'm not any older than I feel," was the way Hyde put it.

Although born in Sharon, Mr. Hyde was rooting lustily for New Castle to upset Sharon, but the game ended 0-0, and everybody was happy.

Several Injured On County Roads

Several Persons Injured In Crash Near New Bedford

Lawrence county highways were slippery last night; a snowfall having been accompanied by freezing weather and several automobile accidents occurred. Probably a dozen or more automobiles had to be dragged from ditches.

Most of the accidents occurred on the New Bedford-New Castle road, according to State Highway patrolmen who rendered aid to the stricken motorists. In some cases, autoists helped each other and in others, it was necessary to call a wrecker to extricate cars.

The cars of G. H. Mitchell, and Joseph Rowbottom, Warren, O., crashed at midnight on Route 422 beyond Frizelburg. Rowbottom, travelling west applied his brakes and his car skidded into Mitchell's auto. Both machines were damaged.

About 9:30 p.m., two automobiles collided beyond New Bedford and the Ohio-Pennsylvania line. Several of the occupants of an auto from Canton were removed to St. Elizabeth's hospital in Youngstown, according to the State Highway patrol corporal, L. J. Lawton.

Near Frizelburg, an auto skidded from the highway and narrowly escaped striking an abutting building. In the vicinity of the Parktown Corners another machine left the road and skidded against a telephone pole then hit a tree.

OUT OF HOSPITAL

Among the patients who returned home from the New Castle hospital over the weekend was Mrs. John Flanagan, of 102 North Walnut street, who fractured her left ankle when she fell from a ladder recently.

The Philadelphia Athletics spend several hundred dollars annually at Shibe Park to combat Japanese beetles... Earl Sande, working on a percentage basis, earned $20,000 for riding Gallant Fox four times during the 1930 season. He received ten per cent of the winnings... Mel Ott did not make a hit in his last 24 trips to the plate last season and he drove in only five runs in the last 34 games... Francis Ouimet has been playing in amateur golf tournaments for 21 years... Bill Klem has umpired seventeen world series. That is more than twice as many as his closest rival... The Boston Marathon has been run annually since 1879... Great sprinters are capable of over 21 miles per hour for a short distance... In 1933 the Cincinnati Reds' losses totaled $178,000. That's reason enough why big league clubs don't often have ready bidders.

In England they play hockey with nine men on each side... When the Philadelphia Athletics opened the 1932 season, Max Bishop, lead-off man, walked four times during the game and yet failed to score... At Newmarket, England, four horses ran a dead heat. There was a field of five (Oct. 1865)... Carl Hubbell demands the last ball he has pitched in each victory... Ted Morgan, former junior lightweight champion, plays his tee shots in golf right-handed, and his irons left-handed... The motion picture contract of Eleanor Holm Jarrett did not make her ineligible for amateur swimming events because it specified that all swimming parts should be done by an understudy. Helene Madison signed without this stipulation and became a professional... Ernie Lombardi, Cincinnati catcher, used the Gene Sarazen golf grip on his bat, interlocking his fingers.

The first Harvard-Yale regatta on Lake Winnipesaukee in 1852, is said to have been instigated by James N. The real name of Tony Piet, Cincinnati infielder, means parson in English... During his twelve years of boxing, Billy Petroleo earned about $400,000. He retired some months ago and had about $200,000... In 1932 a wooden tee was driven into a golf ball when a player drove for the sixth hole at an Indianapolis club... A statue will be erected at the Ascot race track in England to commemorate the seven victories of Brown Jack and his jockey, Steve Donoghue... Battling Levinsky, one time light heavyweight champion, fought more than 500 times in 20 years and earned a total of $600,000... The Newport, Ky., baseball team had a first baseman last summer who should interest the major league clubs. His name is Tiny Gilbert and he's seven feet 11 inches tall and weighs 275 pounds... Honus Wagner started major league baseball at a salary of $80 a week. Toward the end of his career he managed to draw $10,000 for a season... Pay Tribute To Dead At Memorial Service Sunday

Capacity Crowd Participates In Annual Legion Memorial Service In Ellwood

DR. R. F. GALBREATH DELIVERS ADDRESS

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 12—In a beautiful, touching and impressive manner the people of Ellwood City paid tribute, and made a united plea for peace, when the local J. Wilbur Randolph Post held its annual memorial service at the Lincoln auditorium on Sunday evening.

The auditorium was filled to capacity as the curtains parted on the stage. There was a reverent silence as the audience gazed upon a most impressive setting. It was a miniature Flanders' Field with rows of white crosses. The stage was dimly lighted, which brought out an imposing effect. Each of the crosses represented a local legionnaire who paid the supreme sacrifice. In the back center of the stage was a much larger cross in a blaze of light.

Ellen S. Greenham presided on the occasion. After the invocation by the Rev. J. R. Routledge, post chaplain, a selection was given by a quartet composed of William Jones, Robert W. Taylor, William Blocher, and P. W. Blocher. Miss Irene Routledge was the pianist for the affair.

Tells Of War Experience

Rev. Routledge, who served in the war as a corporal of the Canadian Army then gave a "Tribute to the Dead," and made a plea for a war to banish war. He told of a heart touching experience while at the front lines of Ypres.

This was followed with a roll call and salute in charge of Mr. Greenham and Robert Evans. Then as Commander R. Wayne Baird placed a wreath over the big cross, the audience rose to its feet for a silent tribute. Mr. Greenham introduced the Gold Star mothers at the close of this ritual. The assemblage then united in singing "Nearer My God To Thee" and following up with one half-minute of silent prayer. The former remained standing as taps were sounded by Angelo Squicero and Quinton Vetrica.

Plea For Peace

The principal speaker of the evening, Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, president of Westminster College, was introduced by Commander Baird. Dr. Galbreath drew whole hearted approval and admiration from his listeners, as he paid a glorious tribute to those who paid the supreme sacrifice, and then made an eloquent plea for peace.

The speaker urged that a crusade be made against war that the world be made safe for life, liberty, happiness and ideals. He assailed munitions makers and a number of statesmen who advocated the construction of destructive machines. He pleaded for the perpetuation of the doctrine of love, understanding, honesty, and good will, which is being fostered at the present time. The speaker declared that there was no distinction of classes on earth. All the people are of the same manner. When true, honest men of character meet from the far corners of the earth, there is immediately a mutual understanding. All differences are settled in an amicable way and they do not have to resort to warlike methods. With this understanding of good will towards men, peace can only result. Humanity is the same everywhere, he asserted. He interpreted the poem, "Flanders' Field," as the plea of the dead to carry on where they had left off, in a war to end war, and thus share a dream of eternal peace and happiness. Only thus can we keep our faith with the dead.

Another selection was given by the quartet and then Rev. Routledge pronounced the benediction. The program closed with the retiring of colors.

The affair was in charge of a committee composed of Elmer S. Greenham, chairman: Chas. Baird, Robert Evans, Archie Stiebel, and Sidney Berstler. The color bearers and guards were E. R. Conner, L. W. Wilson, Charles Baird, R. E. Zeigler. The ushers were Robert Crawford, captain, Earl McCandless, H. J. Holliday, J. D. Kirkwood, Harry Turner, Emerson Skeivis, Walter Simpson, D. E. Cain, Wilbert Herr, J. C. McBride, L. C. Barnhart, Daniel Evans, J. A. Barnard, Richard Fox and C. E. Shirley.

Made Supreme Sacrifice

Comrades who paid the supreme sacrifice 1917-1918 were:

J. Wilbur Randolph, William F. Boggs, Ernesto Fogo, Joseph S. Morgan, Samuel Pedrick, Dewey Miner, Riogli Amodeo, Andrew J. Majors, John H. Mason, Bruno Galabreath, Joseph Engle, Norman L. Roe, Frederick Buequo, Harry R. Carraway, Benjamin Metlin.

Those who have passed on 1919-1934 are:

DeOnates On Honeymoon

New Brighton Hi Defeats Ellwood

Benedictmen Lose Hard Fought Game, 13-6, At Lincoln Field Saturday

Bill Young Runs Kickoff 81 Yards For Lone Ellwood City Tally

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 12—Ellwood City high school grididers lost a hard fought game to New Brighton high here at Lincoln field on Saturday afternoon by 13-6 score.

The two elevens fought on fairly even terms. The first downs were even at five all, but the locals gained 52 yards more from scrimmage than their opponents. Both teams failed to complete a forward pass. The thrill of the day was provided by Bill Young fleet Ellwood City halfback, who took New Brighton's kickoff on his own 19, and behind splendid interference raced 81 yards for a touchdown.

Score Early

The locals showed an improvement over the previous Saturday, although they still failed to show their early season form. The early score of the invaders was a surprise to local fans in view of their offensive strength after taking the opening kickoff. Hornick kicked over the goal line and Ellwood took the ball on their own 20. On the first play Mazzano ripped off 13 yards through center. When three more plays failed to gain the desired yardage Ottaviano punted from his own 34 to Martin, who returned it to Ellwood's 39 for New Brighton.

The invaders were then touchdown bound. Mujwit sliced through Ellwood's left tackle for 5 yards and then hit center for 6 and a first down. In two more plays Hornick had made another first down to place the ball deep in Ellwood's territory. He then crashed center twice for two yards to place the pigskin on the one yard line. On the next play he went through right guard for the touchdown. He then made a successful placement kick for extra point. The quarter ended a few minutes later when Young and Mazzano had collaborated in making another first down. The former had made nine yards through left tackle and then the latter hit center.

After everyone had extended their best wishes the hours passed quickly and were kept merry with round and square dancing as the diverting pastime.

At an appropriate time Mrs. Daufen assisted by her daughters, Margaret and Willa, served a tasty luncheon. Patriotic colors were carried out in the home decorations and menu appointments. Before departing for home the merry markers presented the guest of honor with a number of fine gifts as remembrances of the occasion.

Tubers On Offense

The ensuing period found the locals continuing the good work that they had just started. Young made seven yards on a reverse play and Mazzano went through right guard for the touchdown. He then made a successful placement kick for extra point. The quarter ended a few minutes later when Young and Mazzano had collaborated in making another first down. The former had made nine yards through left tackle and then the latter hit center.

Young stumbled over the ball on the slippery pavement.

Louis Demas, with his mother, Mrs. H. T. Demas, and sister Helen, and Ray Lattano, were enroute to this city. The car, driven by the former, was descending the Camp Run hill, when suddenly it went into a skid, left the road and crashed into a bank and overturned. The car was considerably damaged.

With the exception of Mrs. Demas, who suffered bruises and abrasions, the rest were uninjured.

Demonstration Follows Rites For War Heroes

Socialists And Communists In France Stage Uprising, Police Held Captive

(International News Service) PARIS, Nov. 12.—France's unknown soldier today was virtually forgotten for another year after political demonstrations in the capital and some provincial centers overshadowed yesterday's ceremony of remembrance.

Crying "down with war" and "down with fascism," six thousand Socialist and Communist war veterans started a demonstration in the rain before the grim Bastille.

Six trucks carrying 150 policemen who had been ordered out to keep the veterans moving were surrounded and the Gendarmes practically held prisoners for a short time, until Red leaders permitted them to continue. Trouble was averted because the police were under orders not to try force.

Rites Are Held

Hours before, President Grévy officiated beside the tomb of the unknown warrior under the Arc de Triomphe, where the flame was rekindled from a torch lighted in Brussels by King Leopold. President Lebrun had sent a similar torch to Brussels.

More than 50,000 soldiers and civilians stood in impressive silence for one minute after "laps" in the famous Place de l'Étoile.

In contrast to the loud but relatively orderly demonstration before the Bastille, and the impressiveness of the official observance, was the riot of several hundred royalists who gathered before a hotel that Edouard Herriot, leader of the radical-socialist group in the cabinet, had just left, and shouted "to the gallows with Herriot."

Beating up a few and arresting several, a hundred policemen broke up the gathering while "cries of 'assassins'" rang in their ears.

At Lille and Narbonne, several were hurt and some arrests were made when Communist and Socialist demonstrators clashed with police.

Father vs. son. This was a scene presented in police court yesterday. The father, resident here for more than 30 years and one who works every opportunity he has, had his son before the mayor. He charged the lad, about 15, had taken money from the home. The father said there were other children in the family, all younger and he wanted Mayor Mayne to lecture the lad. The lad stood silent when the father told the mayor that the boy had a good home, good mother and plenty of food and clothing. The mayor offered a few words of timely advice to the boy, climaxing it with the assertion that if "your parents cannot handle you, others can." No doubt the lad will turn over.

During the business hour the following persons were obligated in the third and fourth degrees: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wimer and Clarence Book.

The play committee announced that there will be a play tournament held in the grange on Saturday November 17 at 7:30 o'clock with the following contestants: Harrisville Parent-Teachers association, Slippery Rock Rural Women's club, Jacksville W. C. T. U. and Worth Grange.

A record was placed in the grange minutes of the achievement of Walter and Fred Boak as being the first members to enter 400 bushel club with a record of 480 bushels of potatoes per acre.

The grange also placed on their minutes the records of the 4H Lamb club which held their roundup at the stock show at Pittsburgh, and the boys received prizes of various amounts.

The following boys are members of this club: Clarence Book, Clair Davis, Wendell Davis, Grady Cooper, Leonard Cooper and Jesse Cooper.

Clyde Moore and Bud Stadelhofer were appointed on the play committee for the remainder of the year. The lecture hour was in charge of June Drake and the following program was given: opening songs; recitations, Bernice Pisor, address on first aid, Dr. Fred Vincent. Many questions were asked at the close of Dr. Vincent's talk.

At the close of the lecture the Worthy Grange Master announced that the next meeting, on November 20, new officers will be elected.

Expect Crowd At 'Y' Event

Gigantic Tureen Dinner Will Take Place At The Cathedral Thursday

BELIEVE HUNDREDS WILL BE PRESENT

Foreseeing the greatest all-association dinner of them all, the Young Women's Christian Association expects by Wednesday noon to have all arrangements for the Thursday evening Cathedral event completed.

It is the annual custom for the New Castle Y. W. C. A. to join with the associations of this and 50 other countries in celebration of the Week of Prayer and World Fellowship. The celebration here usually takes the form of a dinner to which the entire membership, the committees, classes, clubs and board are invited.

Because of the increasing number attending these annual dinners, and the swelling membership, the Y. W. C. A. decided to have this year's celebration in the Cathedral dining room. It will be a gigantic tureen dinner; hundreds will attend. The Petty thieving has made a re-appearance here and before long some of the miscreants will find themselves on the inside looking out. Twenty-five pennies were stolen from a poultry market in Long avenue and an overcoat was stolen from the car of David De Salvo, East Brook, who parked his machine in Neshannock avenue. A stone was thrown through a window which allowed the thieves to snatch the overcoat. Two pair of shoes and some shoestrings were stolen from a store at 221 East Long avenue and a shotgun was stolen from the car of Joseph Canan, Rigby, after he parked his car on the Public Square.

Demonstration Follows Rites For War Heroes

Socialists And Communists In France Stage Uprising. Police Held Captive

(International News Service) PARIS, Nov. 12.—France's unknown soldier today was virtually forgotten for another year after political demonstrations in the capital and some provincial centers overshadowed yesterday's ceremonies of remembrance.

Crying "down with war" and down with fascism," six thousand Socialist and Communist war veterans staged a demonstration in the rain before the grim Bastille.

Six trucks carrying 150 policemen who had been ordered out to keep the veterans moving were surrounded and the Gendarmes practically held prisoners for a short time, until Red leaders permitted them to continue. Trouble was averted because the police were under orders not to fire.

Rites Are Held Hours before, President Lebrun of France passed beside the tomb of the unknown warrior under the Arc de Triomphe, where the flame was rekindled from a torch lighted in Brussels by King Leopold. President Lebrun had sent a similar torch to Brussels.

More than 50,000 soldiers and civilians stood in impressive silence for one minute after "taps" in the famous Place de l'Étoile.

In contrast to the loud but relatively orderly demonstration before the Bastille, and the impressiveness of the official observance, was the riot of several hundred royalists who gathered before a hotel that Edouard Herriot, leader of the radical-socialist group in the cabinet, had just left, and shouted "the gallows with Herriot."

Beating up a few and arresting several, a hundred policemen broke up the gathering while cries of "assassins" rang in their ears.

At Lille and Narbonne, several were hurt and some arrests were made when Communist and Socialist demonstrators clashed with police.

Father vs. son. This was a scene presented in police court yesterday. The father, resident here for more than 30 years and one who works every opportunity he has, had his son before the mayor. He charged the lad, about 15, had taken money from the home. The father said there were other children in the family, all younger and he wanted Mayor Mayne to lecture the lad. The lad stood silent; when the father told the mayor that the boy had a good home, good mother and plenty of food and clothing. The mayor offered a few words of timely advice to the boy, climaxing it with the assertion that if "your parents cannot handle you, others can." No doubt the lad will turn over a new leaf.

Petty thieving has made a reappearance here and before long some of the miscreants will find themselves on the inside looking out. Twenty-five pennies were stolen from a poultry market in Long avenue and an overcoat was stolen from the car of David De Sava, East Brook, who parked his machine in Neshannock avenue. A stone was thrown through a window which allowed the thieves to snatch the overcoat. Two pair of shoes and some shoestrings were stolen from a store at 221 East Long avenue and a shotgun was stolen from the car of Joseph Canan, Ridgby, after he parked his car on the Public Square.

Expect Crowd At 'Y' Event

Gigantic Tureen Dinner Will Take Place At The Cathedral Thursday

BELIEVE HUNDREDS WILL BE PRESENT

Foreseeing the greatest all-association dinner of them all, the Young Women's Christian Association expects by Wednesday noon to have all arrangements for the Thursday evening Cathedral event completed.

It is the annual custom for the New Castle Y. W. C. A. to join with the associations of this and 50 other countries in celebration of the Week of Prayer and World Fellowship.

The celebration here usually takes the form of a dinner to which the entire membership, the committees, classes, clubs and board are invited.

Because of the increasing number attending these annual dinners, and the swelling membership, the Y. W. C. A. decided to have this year's celebration in the Cathedral dining room. It will be a gigantic tureen dinner; hundreds will attend.
